2. (S/NF/SK) The target was the area around the Piazza del St. Michael in Venice, Italy. The site contains numerous renaissance buildings, churches and the famous Cathedral of St. Michael. Surrounding the entire area is the famous Venetian canal system and the ever present waterway taxi, the Gondola.

3. (C/NF/SK) Source described several geographic concepts which would have been correlated to the site. However, these same generalized patterns could be equally pertinent to almost any man made structure on earth, i.e., "round, large, massive, breezy, narrow, long, a round ball". Other data seemed to be more pertinent, i.e., "showy, history, quiet people, art", however, in the context of the entire target, it could be determined if these descriptives were actually relevant to the target. Later Source's descriptives belied an actual psychic presence at the site, i.e., "explosive, shadowy, green grass, immaculately clean, electrifying, protective clothing, et. al."

4. (C/NF/SK) It is believed that Source was unsuccessful in fully acquiring the proper site and although the data provided may have some relevance to another agenda, it was not pertinent to the target in question.
